Why This Fellowship

The USINDO Professional Fellows Program places U.S. graduate students and recent graduate degree holders with leading Indonesia-based companies for hands-on, professional experience abroad. You'll work on meaningful projects, gain international exposure, and build skills that stand out in today's global job market.

This fellowship includes comprehensive in-country support, including housing, visa fees, health insurance, and local costs. The position does not offer a salary due to visa requirements; fellows are responsible only for international travel.

Preferred Backgrounds

We welcome applicants from diverse disciplines, particularly those aligned with Indonesia's high-growth and skills-gap sectors, including:

- Business, Management, or related fields
- Data Analytics, Information Technology, or Supply Chain Management
- International Relations, Public Policy, or related social sciences
- Environmental Studies, Ecology, Sustainability, or related fields
- Communications, Media, and Journalism

About USINDO

The U.S.–Indonesia Society (USINDO) is a nonprofit organization founded in 1994 to strengthen U.S.–Indonesia relations through education, exchange, and people-to-people engagement.

Why Indonesia

Indonesia offers exposure to emerging markets, fast-growing industries, and diverse professional environments, building global perspective, cultural fluency, and practical experience valued by employers across sectors.

Eligibility

- U.S. citizens
- Currently enrolled in a graduate program, or recent graduates of a graduate degree program

Application Timeline

Applications are reviewed on a rolling basis.

Deadline: February 28, 2026 (11:59 PM EST)
